

'Is IP Good for Our Health?'

CIPIL Annual Spring Conference | Faculty of Law, University of Cambridge | Saturday 7 March 2020

09:30	Registration and Coffee
Morning Session: Recent Decisions & Policy Developments
Topic 1: Conceptual Framing
10:00	Kathy Liddell (University of Cambridge)
Topic 2: Patents & Regulatory Exclusivities
10:20	Inventive step in patent law after Actavis v ICOS Katherine Moggridge (Three New Square)
10:50	Overview and update of EU and US regulatory exclusivities Trevor Cook (Wilmer Hale)
11:20	Tea and Coffee
Topic 3: Drugs, Competition Law, Parallel Trade & Brexit
11:40	Drugs and competition law Chris Stothers (Freshfields Bruckhaus Deringer)
12:10	Exhaustion, parallel trade and Brexit Katharine Stephens (Bird & Bird)
12:40	Lunch
Afternoon Session: Perspectives from Research
Topic 4: Precision Medicine, Drug Repurposing & the Next Steps for Competition Law
13:30	Whether and to what extent are patents good for precision medicine? Mateo Aboy (University of Cambridge)
14:00	Has the EU incentive for drug repositioning been effective? An empirical analysis John Liddicoat (University of Cambridge)
14:30	Reconciling competition and IP law: patented pharmaceuticals and dominance abuse Wolf Sauter (Tilburg University; Netherlands Authority for Consumers & Markets)
15:00	Tea and Coffee
Topic 5: Global Health, Alternatives to IP, Concluding Talk & Discussion
15:20	Global Access to Medicines: Time for a New Approach? Ellen 't Hoen (Medicines Law & Policy)
16:00	Concluding reflections Rochelle Dreyfuss (New York University)
17:00 – 17:50 Discussions over drinks	